

HEAVY RAINS
BENEFIT CROPSSituation in the Northwest Is Much Improved.

ARE ALMOST BEYOND HELP

Drouth Continues in Some Sections of North Dakota and There Is Little Hope for Early Sown Wheat, Oats and Barley—Hay and Pasture Are Better Than a Week Ago, but the Question of Fodder for Live Stock Is a Serious One.

Bismarck, N. D., July 12.—Reports received by Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor Gilbreath from forty-six counties this week indicate a slightly improved condition in some localities owing to rainfall and cooler weather.

Drouth, however, continues in other places, and it is now generally conceded that early sown wheat, oats and barley are in almost all instances beyond help. Later sown grain and that sown on fallowed ground or new breaking has been benefited by local showers and promises a better yield than a week ago.

Hay and pasture have also improved in the past week, but the former will be a very short crop, and the question of fodder for live stock is yet a serious one.

Flax and corn are now the main reliance of the farmer, many fields of the former showing good promise, while corn is showing a wonderful growth considering the lack of moisture which has been the prevailing condition up to the present time.

Good reports are received from Richland county and around Beach, in the western part of the state, where it is expected that the net results to the farmer will be as great as a year ago.

Brought Great Benefit.

Winona, Minn., July 12.—Certain sections of Southern Minnesota report a rain, but in this immediate territory there has been no additional moisture since the rain of Saturday.

The Northwestern dispatcher's office reports a two hours' rain between Tracy and Claremont, seventy miles west of here, which must have brought great benefit. Marshall, Canby and Watertown, S. D., have had good rains.

Reports secured here indicate that it is cloudy and threatening over Southern Minnesota and a drenching rain is in sight.

Watertown, S. D., July 12.—Rain began here early in the morning and is still falling in a steady shower with intervals of heavy downpour. The estimated fall is over one inch, with the prospect for more. The reports show that the rain is general over Codington county and all Northeastern South Dakota. Experts say the moisture is now sufficient to mature the crops unless exceptionally hot winds set in.

Williston, N. D., July 12.—Good rains have fallen here. Weather cooler and cloudy.

The northern part of South Dakota, from Mobridge to the Minnesota line and from Aberdeen to Mitchell, was visited by good rains, the precipitation at Aberdeen amounting to .45 inch. The rain proved of great benefit to growing crops.

FOUR MORE ARE SENTENCED

Mabray's Aids in Swindling Operations Go to Prison.

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 12.—Four more sentences were dealt out by Judge Smith McPherson in the United States district court to co-workers of William C. Mabray, whose swindling operations amounted to over $1,000,000.

Luther West, who rode most of the "fixed" horse races for Mabray, received a jail sentence of six months and a $100 fine. Dick Beatty, a foot racer, received thirteen months and a $100 fine.

Ole Marsh and Bert Shores, convicted at the recent trial with several others, were sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment. All will be taken to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan.

BANKER'S WIFE A SUICIDE

Ends Her Life While Temporarily Insane.

Highmore, S. D., July 12.—Mrs. S. Drew, wife of a banker of this place, committed suicide while temporarily insane. She had been an invalid from nervous trouble for years and since the death of her little grandson, Sanford Drew, suffered from melancholia and had been closely watched by her family. A husband, three sons and a daughter survive her.

Twelve Die From Heat.

New York, July 12.—The blanket of steam in which the city has parboiled for the past week lifted momentarily for a few hours under the pressure of faint airs from the sea, but the slight drop in the thermometer was not sufficient to affect the continuing drain on lowered vitality and there were twelve more deaths and a large number of prostrations.

SITUATION IS COMPLICATED

Result of Court Decision on Division of County.

Minot, N. D., July 12.—With the settlement of all points involving the organization of Burke and Renville counties out of northern sections of Ward county, one of the most interesting political complications that has ever arisen in North Dakota is brought about, one that will endanger the nominations of several of the candidates for county offices in Ward county. Test suits to determine the question are threatened.

According to the decisions of the courts of the state, Burke and Renville counties were entitled to distinct organizations even before the primary election of June. The supreme court held several weeks prior to the election date that the propositions had been carried, but the appointment of commissioners and the organization were delayed through the action of the citizens of Kenmare in taking another appeal. This appeal has since been dismissed, leaving the matter just as it stood when the court handed down its first decision.

In the primary election the districts included in Burke and Renville county voted as a portion of Ward county, although they were then entitled to separate county organizations and their own set of candidates. It was, in fact, a case of where three counties were voting for the candidates of one county. In other words, Burke and Renville counties voted for candidates in Ward county. Also, residents of Burke and Renville counties were voted for as officers in Ward county, although they did not hold a legal residence in Ward county.

The complications arising out of this situation are readily seen. In the case of several of the defeated candidates, they secured majorities in the several precincts comprising Ward county, while in Burke and Renville county precincts this majority was wiped out and their opponent nominated. Then, too, residents of Burke and Renville counties were candidates on the ticket for nominations as officers of Ward county. Several were nominated and are now, on the face of the returns, the candidates for office in a county in which they have no legal residence.

FOOTPRINTS OF GLACIERS.

They Present a Serious Problem For Future Generations.

The site of New York city was once buried under hundreds, possibly thousands, of feet of ice. Ample proof of this is found in many places on Manhattan Island, the most tangible being the "footprints" of glaciers. Examine the surface of the rocks in Central or Riverside park and you will find numerous peculiar marks.

These peculiar marks, called by geologists "striae," are the "footprints" of glaciers. They were produced by the grinding of pebbles upon the rock surfaces under the glaciers as the latter moved to the sea.

How long ago it was that glaciers flowed over Manhattan Island is a matter of uncertainty. The period has been variously estimated at from 5,000 to 50,000 years. The present trend of opinion is in favor of the smaller estimate. But, knowing as we do that the site of New York city was glaciated at a time remote or comparatively recent, the portentous question arises, Are the glaciers likely to descend on it again? No human means could arrest their irresistible advance. Palatial homes, towering skyscrapers, East river bridges, all the magnificent monuments of human achievement, would be ground into atoms and swept into the ocean.

Striae, or "footprints" of glaciers, are found from the highest northern and southern latitudes to the equator. Was the entire surface of the earth at one time covered with ice? Some geologists have taken that view, but the evidence does not warrant it.

That the earth has changed its axis from time to time and is still changing it is a fact well known to astronomers. It is conceivable, therefore, that in the course of ages, before the earth's crust assumed its present form, the poles may once have been on the present equatorial line and the equatorial line where the poles now stand. By oscillation of the globe and consequent interchanging of polar and equatorial lines every part of the earth's surface must have been successively glaciated. Such a general lateral movement of the earth furnishes a reasonable explanation of the glacial "footprints" everywhere found.

The north is undoubtedly growing warmer. Some 500 years ago Alaska was still covered with glaciers. Five hundred years from now there will scarcely be a glacier to be found there except in the highest mountains. "The next generation will find few of them with their fronts still in the sea," says Henry Gannett in Delebaugh's "North America of Yesterday." The present trend on the earth's axis is to push the north pole farther north. But the question is, How long will this movement continue in the present direction? It may continue until Greenland shall come again to have a temperate climate, or it may be reversed in the near future to bring the ice back to the destruction of great cities. This is a problem for posterity. The present generation need not lose any sleep over it. But some future generation may find itself confronting a serious condition.—William E. Simmons in New York World.

JAMES R. GARFIELD.

Declares Nation Stands
in a Critical Situation.

IN A CRITICAL SITUATION

James R. Garfield's Opinion of the Nation's Stand.

Cleveland, July 12.—James R. Garfield, former secretary of the interior, in a speech delivered before the newly formed progressive Republican organization of Cleveland, set forth the platform upon which the progressive element of the Republican party will enter the fall campaign in this state. Mr. Garfield announced his acceptance of the appellation of "insurgent."

Mr. Garfield declared that the nation stands today in a critical situation; that a problem confronts the country whether the fight of the progressives was to be carried to a successful issue or whether they are to surrender and admit that government for and by the people was a failure.

Having dealt in a general way with national problems, and continuing his eulogy of the progressives, Mr. Garfield took up special state problems. The recall, regulation of corporations, workmen's compensation act, the strengthening of child labor laws and the development of a canal system were the principal planks in the platform which he put forward.

Conservatives Victorious in Manitoba Election.

Winnipeg, July 12.—The Roblin government of Manitoba and the government ownership of elevators succeeded at the polls, the Conservatives electing twenty-seven and the Liberals fifteen seats. All cabinet members had big majorities. In the last house the Liberals had but thirteen seats and the Conservatives twenty-eight.

The government operation of telephones was one of the questions at issue. The promised reductions in rates have not been made.

The terms of the bills providing for the government ownership of all grain elevators, stock yards and abattoirs was another cause for contention. Winnipeg returns two Liberals and two Conservatives in the north end, electing S. Hart Green, Liberal, by 400 over J. F. Mitchell, who at the last election had a plurality of more than 500.

All the ministers of the cabinet were elected, Premier Roblin increasing his majority by over 100. Such familiar figures as Bernier, Chevrier, T. H. Johnson and Lawrence will again sit in the house.

It is possible that later returns may defeat the government, for, if the seats go as incomplete as returns indicate, the standing will be: Conservatives 21, Liberals 20, and a speaker has to be chosen from the government.

IN NINTH ANNUAL SESSION

Upper Mississippi River Improvement Association at St. Paul.

St. Paul, July 12.—The ninth annual convention of the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association opened in the palm room of the Saint Paul at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The convention was called to order by E. S. Warner, president of the Commercial club. After an invocation by Archbishop Ireland, the delegates were welcomed by Mayor H. P. Keller. The mayor's address of welcome was responded to by Thomas Wilkinson, president of the association. Then followed the appointment of committee on affairs and audit and a few brief remarks.

Dying as Result of Quagrel.

Lead, S. D., June 30.—In a quarrel over a card game in a saloon here, John Petrovich was fatally shot by Mike Shak. Both men are unmarried and Slavs. Petrovich is lying at St. Joseph's hospital and Shak is in the county jail. He alleges that the shooting was an accident.

Woodsmen's Skeleton Found.

Marquette, Mich., July 12.—A human skeleton reclining against a stump was found by a farmer at Mangum. David Hoff, a woodsman, disappeared the winter of 1908-9 and it is believed the bones are his.

BOWERS FOR
SUPREME COURT

Solicitor General Will Be Appointed by the President.

STIMSON TO SUCCEED BOWERS

Can Have the Position of Solicitor General if He So Desires—No Longer Any Doubt That Bowers Will Become a Member of the Federal Tribunal.

New York, July 12.—A special from Washington says the following slate of federal appointments was vouched for by officials of the administration: Lloyd W. Bowers to be justice of the supreme court and Henry L. Stimson to be solicitor general to succeed Mr. Bowers.

By officials close to President Taft it was said that there is no longer any doubt that Bowers will be appointed to the supreme court. He would have been chosen instead of Justice Lurton when the latter was appointed but for the belief in the mind of President Taft that he was young enough to wait for a later appointment. The president has said to several friends that he has the highest regard for Bowers' knowledge of law and that his appointment to the supreme bench would materially strengthen it.

Now that the president will have the appointment of an additional justice to the highest court, and in all probability two, it is conceded that Bowers will attain the goal of his ambition. It is scarcely thought that Justice Moody's health will improve sufficiently to permit him to resume his seat on the bench. He is expected to take advantage of the retirement law, so that the president must name a successor for Moody as well as for Chief Justice Fuller.

Preparing for the Position.

Bowers has been preparing himself for a seat in the supreme court by keeping out of the big trust cases which have lately been argued.

Stimson can have Bowers' place as solicitor general if he will take it. Beverly, Mass., July 12.—President Taft announced again that he would not give serious consideration to filling vacancies in the United States supreme court until the fall. As to calling an extra session of the senate in October to confirm appointees to the supreme bench and thus to facilitate the rehearing of the important Standard Oil and tobacco and corporation tax cases the president has not definitely made up his mind.

The president has offered to President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale the chairmanship of the commission authorized by congress to investigate the subject of railroad stocks and bonds and to recommend a plan for bringing the issue of these securities under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission.

Mr. Hadley is considering to what extent service on the commission would interfere with his work at Yale and will endeavor to determine this factor before announcing a decision.

RECORD BY GLENN CURTISS

Aviator Travels Fifty Miles in Fast Time.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 12.—Glenn Curtiss set an American record for a fifty mile flight in an aeroplane by covering a half hundred measured miles in five mile laps along the beach in elapsed time of 1 hour, 14 minutes, 59 seconds.

At the end of his fifty mile flight Curtiss swept his machine back over the waterways on the meadow side of the city and made an entire circle of the resort before he descended to receive the plaudits of the cheering crowd.

Mrs. Curtiss was among the first to greet him. Walter Brookings, who made the world's altitude record, and Frank Coffin, his rival flying the Wright machine, were among those who crowded around him and extended their congratulations. In the early evening Curtiss set a new mark for quick climbing by sweeping his machine 1,600 feet in the air in 5 minutes and 51 seconds.

HIT BY THREE BULLETS

Guest at Beer Party Shot by the Host.

Jamestown, N. D., July 12.—Andrew Tomjack, a farmer near Spiritwood Lake, appeared in justice court here with three bullet wounds received at a beer party held at the home of a neighbor to celebrate the homecoming of his son-in-law.

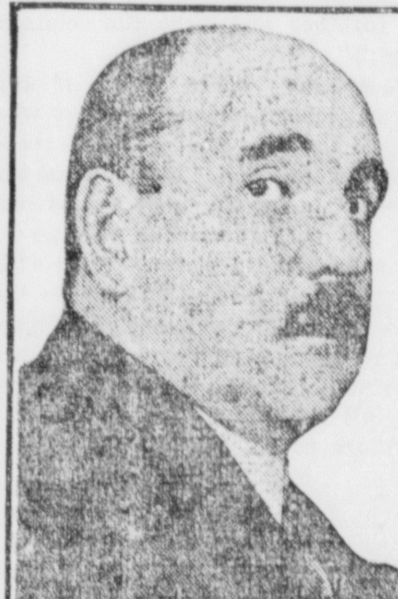

He entered a complaint against Mike Bender, at whose home the party was held. The shooting is said to have taken place after all the guests at Bender's home had retired for the night.

Tomjack and Bender had a quarrel over a card game, according to the testimony, and the latter ended the disagreement by firing five times at Tomjack, hitting him with three of the bullets.

Tomjack is expected to answer to the charges at the next session.

Rumors have been current, and it ought always to be a warning, that William Winter.

STRANDED IN BRUSSELS

American Indians Lose Jobs With Wild West Show.

Washington, July 12.—The bureau of Indian affairs has taken cognizance of a report that thirty-nine Ojibwa Sioux Indians from the Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota, attached to a Wild West exhibition, are stranded in Brussels. If necessary, the bureau will adopt measures to bring the redmen home.

In accordance with the rule of the Indian office, it was said that the manager of the show company was required to deposit with the government funds sufficient to insure that the Indians were taken care of properly and returned to their homes. If it develops that the redmen are in straits in a foreign land, this money, it is said, will be used to bring them back.

MYRA WILLIAMS

Charity Worker Obtains Release of Woman.

St. Paul, July 12.—About three years ago Myra Jane Williams, a friendless girl serving a life sentence at Stillwater, expressed to the prison evangelist a desire to have some friend to write to. The prison preacher got her into correspondence with the wife of a charity worker in Salt Lake City whom he knew and this new friend, Mrs. E. T. Mackey, made a plea for the girl before the state pardon board which secured her release. Mrs. Mackey promised the girl into her own home and see that she would be well taken care of.

Myra Williams, according to the story Mrs. Mackey told the board, had not had a home since she was less than three years old. While quite young she married a man whose reputation was not good. They drifted to Brainerd and Williams forced his wife to an improper life. She had a baby and one night when she had been out drinking with three or four men and was coming home with them she tossed the child into the Mississippi as they were crossing the bridge. She was tried and given a life sentence for murder in the first degree. At the prison she had a good record, but was somewhat despondent.

NEGRO MINISTERS DIFFER

Some Would Suppress Pictures of Reno Fight.

Chicago, July 12.—The African Methodist Episcopal Ministerial association of Chicago and vicinity adopted a resolution condemning "the presentation of any exhibition of the brutalities of the prize fight, whether it be in the ring itself or by moving picture reproductions," and requesting the mayor of the city "to prohibit the fight pictures of the Johnson-Jeffries contest."

Philadelphia, July 12.—The colored ministers' conference, composed of pastors of the African Methodist Episcopal churches of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and New York, at a meeting held here refused to endorse a resolution favoring the suppression of the Johnson and Jeffries fight pictures.

Bishop B. T. Turner, who led the opposition to the resolution, admitted that he had prayed that Johnson might win. He said he was bitterly opposed to prize fights, but since the fight was to take place he wanted to see the black man win, especially as the whites had made a race issue of the encounter.

The Stationary.

"Stationary" has etymologically as much to do with standing as has "stationary." The original stationers, or stationarii, were so called because they sold their books upon stalls or "stations"—in London round about old St. Paul's cathedral, in some cases against the walls of the cathedral itself. This is one of many trades the names of which have no direct allusion to the commodities sold. "Grocers," for instance, were so called either because they sold "en gros," wholesale, or because they were "engrossers," monopolizers.—London Chronicle.

MEDICAL AFFINITIES ARE IN.

Everybody—Lean, Stout, Blond and Brunette—Has One.

The latest thing in affinities is the medical affinity. Here's the way it is: If you are a large, portly person, with an oversupply of chin and a bay window, then you have a "medical affinity" for a certain kind of drug, and that's the kind of pill you want to take when anything goes wrong with your interior arrangement.

But if you're a lean and hungry individual, with a figure that would make a toothpick look corpulent by comparison, then some other kind of pill is your "medical affinity."

It's one of the theories of the neopaths in convention in Kansas City recently.

The same theory applies to blonds and brunettes. Brunettes are said to have bromine as their affinity, while blonds are supposed to be affectionately disposed toward iodine.

"The blue eyed, gentle and sensitive blond, whose tears flow easily when hurt"—to quote from a paper read before the homeopaths—needs pulsatilla when she becomes ill, no matter whether it's toothache or influenza.

The paper on medical affinities was written by Dr. W. H. Freeman of Brooklyn.

Hard on the Eyesight.

Looking into the fire, particularly a coal fire, is very injurious to the eyes. The stimulus of fire and heat united soon destroys the eyes. Looking at molten iron will soon destroy the sight. Reading in the twilight is injurious to the eyes, as they are obliged to make great exertion. Reading or sewing with a side light injures the eyes, as both eyes should be exposed to an equal degree of light. The reason is the sympathy between the eyes is so great that if the pupil of one eye is dilated by being kept partially in the shade the eye that is exposed cannot contract itself sufficiently for protection and will ultimately be injured.—British Health Review.

IN CONFERENCE WITH TAFT

Former Secretary to President Roosevelt Declares That He Would Rather Remain at His Post Than Run for Governor of New York—Chief Executive Tells Loeb Nomination Is Coming His Way.

Beverly, Mass., July 12.—William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York, frankly told President Taft that he would rather remain at his post in the customs service than to run for governor of New York this fall. The president as frankly told Mr. Loeb that the Republican nomination seemed to be coming his way, and that it would take more than a fishing trip to the Rocky mountains to stop it.

The former secretary to President Roosevelt left for New York, leaving the impression here that if it became absolutely necessary for him to take the Republican nomination he would do so and would make it a whirlwind campaign.

The mention of the New York situation was incidental to talk on general politics between the president and Mr. Loeb. They were together in the morning before the president went to the Myopia links for a game of golf with Henry C. Frick, who lives near here, and they lunched together at John Hays Hammond's cottage in Gloucester. After the luncheon the talk was continued. Mr. Taft was anxious to hear something of the situation as viewed by some one outside of the immediate administration circle.

Mr. Taft is not interfering in the New York situation in any way. He and Mr. Loeb are the closest of friends, and whenever Mr. Loeb's name has been mentioned to the president in connection with the New York governorship he always has enthusiastically approved the suggestion. Mr. Loeb has known this for some time. He has known that, as far as he could legitimately do so, the president would bring all of his influence to his support in anything he might undertake.

From Various Angles.

The collector discussed New York state politics with the president from various angles. Mr. Loeb made no attempt to conceal the more serious aspects of the situation from the Republican point of view. He expressed again the belief, however, that the Republicans would get together and that the splits in their party would be offset by divisions in the Democratic ranks.

Mr. Taft believes that Mr. Loeb would probably attract support from more elements of the party than any other man.

Aside from the New York situation the tariff came in for a share of consideration at the conference. Both the president and Mr. Loeb believe that the tariff commission and the big appropriation for its work have wonderfully strengthened the hands of the Republicans and offer a common ground on which the factions of the party can meet.

There is a strong impression in Beverly that Mr. Loeb will see Governor Hughes before the latter goes to Oyster Bay. It will be for the governor, the colonel and the other New York leaders to say whether Mr. Loeb is to have the nomination thrust upon him.

New York, July 12.—Theodore Roosevelt and William Loeb, Jr., have no appointment for a conference on the gubernatorial situation, nor have Mr. Loeb and Governor Hughes an appointment for such a conference. Colonel Roosevelt, at Sagamore Hill, declined to comment on the probability of Mr. Loeb being a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

ELKS MEETING AT DETROIT

Holding Biggest Annual Convention There.

Detroit, July 12.—What is said to be the biggest annual national reunion in the history of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks is fully underway, with hundreds of additional delegations arriving hourly.

The formal opening of the grand lodge was held at the Lyceum theater. Senator J. C. Burrows of Michigan, Governor Fred Warner and Mayor Philip Breitnayer welcomed the delegates in behalf of the state and city.

Kills His Playmate.

Fossenden, N. D., July 12.—Theodore Hiltz, aged six years, was shot and killed by his playmate, Eberhart Fehr, aged eleven years, by the discharge of a gun which the boys "didn't know was loaded." Young Fehr, frightened, ran to the home of a neighbor, failing to tell anything of the affair. The dead had been found an hour later lying dead in a pool of blood.

CONCERNING LIGHT AND POWER

In Monday's issue The Dispatch published the report of Consulting Engineer Clausen of the Water and Light Board on the cost of installing and operating suitable plants for furnishing the city with light and water, and one report also submitted figures for a central heating plant that would furnish heat for all the business district. This is the report the water board and council have been waiting for before taking any action in the matter, and it is now up to the water board and the people of the city to make an immediate selection of the plant they desire, and which will be to the best interest of the city, or close a contract with the Little Falls company or the Crow Wing river company to buy power of them according to the propositions they have submitted.

According to Engineer Clausen's report, a complete steam electric light and water plant can be installed at a cost of $108,250 and will furnish current at a cost of 2.4 cents per kilowatt hour. With a central heating plant added the cost will be $111,400 and current will cost 2.57 cents per kilowatt hour. A complete gas plant will cost $115,000 and the cost of current will be 2.48 cents per kilowatt hour. The Little Falls company asks 2.50 cents per kilowatt hour, 10-100 cents more than the cost would be with a steam plant and 2-100 more than current would cost by the gas producer plant, and this price would be at the city limits, while the steam or gas plants would be located in the center of the city. Additional cost would also have to be added to the Little Falls rate for the salary of the superintendent and an electrician which items are included in the estimates of the other plants.

If Engineer Clausen's are correct, it seems the city could furnish its own current considerably cheaper than offered by either of the companies wanting to sell current. But the matter should be considered and decided at once.

OUT TO WIN

The following expressions are indications of victory for the republican state ticket at the coming election:

St. Cloud Journal-Press: "Stearns county will show a larger percentage of increased vote for Gov. Eberhart over the last three republican candidates for governor than any other county in the state."

Anoka Union: "The republican state convention held in nomination a strong ticket, good from top to bottom and one that will be elected."

Brainerd Tribune: "Isn't it time for the Republicans of Minnesota to get together and fight the common enemy?"

Cass Lake Times: "Few, if any of our people are worrying over who will be the next governor and probably few of them care. Governor Eberhart has so far made a good record and the voters who will go to the polls next November will go with no grudge or ill feeling towards the man who heads the ticket of the party once great and deserving. We are convinced that the governor will get his full measure of the vote of the northern counties."

John Lind has again reiterated his statement that he will not head the democratic state ticket. These democrats do protest too much.

The city of Staples, through its common council, is advertising for bids for the construction of a municipal heating plant as an extension to the city lighting plant.

According to the government record Minnesota has had the lightest precipitation since February of any like period for fifty years. The rains of the past week, however, have worked wonders in this section of the state and crops of all kinds have been benefited.

Milo Young, who is canvassing the district in the interest of his candidacy for the legislature, is visiting the various precincts in Crow Wing county. The gentleman has not yet filed for the office but he intends to be in the game that will be fought over in this legislative district the same as it was two years ago with probably the same candidates in the field as presented themselves at that time.

It is said that a petition is being circulated for signers in what is known as the Indian country asking the government to strictly enforce the terms of the treaty under which so many saloons have been closed. The signers of the petition say that special privileges should be granted to none and that if any saloons are closed all should be treated alike and the territory in question made absolutely "dry" as was contemplated in the treaty.

They were on the job all right as is attested by the Akeley Herald in the following paragraph: "It might be in order to state that the Beltrami, Crow Wing and Hubbard county members of the resolution's committee at the republican state convention were right on the job making planks for legislation favorable to Northern Minnesota. We're sure that MacKintz and Albright would have been there yet, had not Chairman Eddy yelled: 'For God's sake let's leave a little something for the legislature to do next winter.'"

Minnesota can have the next speaker of the national house, and it is a great honor. The office in itself is one of vast importance and the state for the first time in its history has the opportunity of capturing the coveted position. If James A. Tawney is re-elected from the First district and the people of Minnesota get behind the movement to make him the next speaker there is but little question as to the outcome. The movement against Tawney in the First district has fallen flat and his renomination will be made without opposition.

The St. Cloud Times will not stand for the endorsement of any republican nominees by the democratic convention and intimates that they are going to nominate men for office that the "wet" element will be glad to support. That is the history of the party sure enough, and possibly history will repeat itself, but in the meantime is John Lind to head the ticket. It wouldn't be any more ludicrous to see 'Billy' Hamm supporting Eberhart and opposing Gordon than it would to see the democrats nominate a county option candidate for governor and a man opposed to county option for lieutenant governor.

History of Cotton.

Prior to the middle of the eighteenth century cotton, so far as modern time is concerned, was practically unknown. It was grown only in the flower garden. When eight bags of the staple arrived in Liverpool in 1784 the custom house officers seized it on the ground that so much could not have been raised in America. In 1787 our first cotton mill was set in motion at Beverly, Mass. In 1793 Whitney invented the cotton gin, which rendered cotton raising profitable, and it soon became the leading crop of the south. The southern United States produces most of the cotton of the world and will in all probability continue for all time to hold a monopoly of the staple New York American.

SCHOOL BOARD ORDERS REPAIRS

Building Committee, Messrs. Wise, Larson and Ilse Report on Five Schools

MUCH CEMENT WORK ORDERED

Gymnasium to be Built—New Fan for the Washington School Building

The school board deferred their regular meeting from July 4th to Friday, July 8th. All members were present that evening except L. P. Johnson, J. C. Congdon and Hugo Kaatz.

The janitors pay roll was allowed also a large number of small bills. The board received the resignation of Mary J. Burke, who leaves for Duluth.

The building committee, Messrs. R. R. Wise, John Larson and Richard Ilse turned in a most comprehensive and thorough report on repairs needed in the different school buildings. The committee advised that the old sidewalk north of the Washington school building be offered for sale at $10, which report was accepted.

Their suggestions regarding repairs were adopted.

The Lowell school is to be improved by putting in 12 panes of glass and laying 125 feet of three inch flooring.

The Whittier school needs 6 panes of glass, 104 feet of eight foot cement walk, five steps of cement walk running from 8 to 12 feet and seven cement bases receiving water from spouts.

The Harrison school repairs include a cement walk, 123 feet long and eight feet wide running from north to south; four cement steps, 12 feet long; a cement sidewalk running east and west and 258 feet long and six feet wide; six cement bases for water spouts; one wash bowl; and repairing the ceiling of one room.

The Lincoln school needs plastering in the hall, the hall room and kitchen; repairs to the roof and painting; and repairs to the coal bins.

The Washington school house needs seats and desks varnished; 5 window panes; 3 radiators; 5 clocks to be repaired; plastering the ceiling of the assembly room; a stair in the north end of the building repaired; boilers inspected; floors in hall oiled; old back room painted and papered; a base of cement to be constructed 3x7 feet to receive water from 14 spouts, a cement sidewalk to the north measuring 324x6 feet; the wooden fences to be removed; the cement walk at the front of the building near the main entrance to be widened.

All these recommendations were adopted and the committee ordered to begin work at once.

The committee asked further time to receive bids on the construction of the gymnasium room, 72x90 feet.

The bids on the cement work were all rejected by the board, and new bids were requested.

The building committee was empowered to hire an inspector on cement work to see that proper proportions were used and that all work was properly done.

The building committee was also authorized to have plans and specifications drawn for a new fan at the Washington building, and to receive bids for the same, the old fan to be traded in.

Pineapple Seeds.

The pineapple as ordinarily cultivated is almost seedless, seeds being so rarely produced that the great majority of growers have never seen a seed and believe the fruit to be wholly sterile. But it is possible to produce them.

Philippine Trade Gains Rapidly. The Philippine overseas trade for 1909 was $49,243,337 exports and $31,084,419 imports, a total of $80,332,756, or nearly $5,000,000 more than in 1908. Less than 5 per cent is carried in American and Philippine vessels. British vessels carry 73 per cent.

CHECKER TOURNAMENT

Hot Contest on at the Y. M. C. A. for the Checker Championship of Brainerd

The checker tournament which opened yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. promises to be an interesting contest. Ten players have been registered and twelve games were played yesterday. The contest will continue every afternoon and evening until the championship is decided. There are ten players and each contestant plays three games with every other contestant.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE MEETS

The One Alderman From Each Ward Special Water and Light Committee Met Last Night

The special committee recently appointed by President of the council Tim Twohey to consider the water and light question in Brainerd met last night at the council chambers. Four aldermen, Messrs. Robertson, Kjellquist, Gardner and Drexler, were present. There were also in attendance Mayor A. Ousdahl, ex-alderman Fred H. Gruenhagen, ex-mayor Con O'Brien and Wm. E. Corkrey, formerly a member of the Water and Light board.

The report submitted by Engineer A. Clausen as published in The Dispatch of last evening, was thoroughly discussed. The committee arrived at no formal conclusions.

Alderman Gardner stated that M. D. Stoner, of Bemidji, had another proposition to submit to the council at its next regular meeting, July 15, and so the committee informally decided to first hear from Mr. Stoner's on that date before deliberating further.

DELEGATES APPOINTED

Three Delegates Will Represent Brainerd at Upper Mississippi River Improvement Assn.

At the request of Mayor Ousdahl President Halsted, of the commercial club has appointed three delegates consisting of S. F. Alderman, G. W. Holland and J. L. Camp to represent Brainerd at the Upper Mississippi River Improvement Association at their meeting in St. Paul.

Stockholders Visit Range

A party of Minneapolis stockholders of the Gorham-Garrett Mining Co. passed through Brainerd yesterday on a tour of inspection of the company's properties. The party consisted of Mrs. Elizabeth Winslow, Mrs. W. F. Carrott, G. R. Gorham, Clarence Brown, Frank Cook, G. R. Parmelee, George Dudge, Al Hedler, Frank Bailey, Will Almour, W. H. Mohack and Charles Sprague.

KLONDYKE IS CAPTURED

The Degree of Pochahontas and the Red Men Invade and Capture Village

The Degree of Pochahontas and Red Men to the number of 50 invaded the precincts of the village of Klondyke Sunday afternoon and were royally entertained at the lodge of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Herbst.

It was a red letter day in the history of Klondyke. Jule Jamieson, who has been christened mayor of Klondyke did the honors of his ball-twig by giving all the visitors a boat ride, and in the evening he surprised and delighted everybody by sending up four balloons and shooting off innumerable sky rockets and other fireworks.

"Chief of Police" Herbst and "Mayor" Jamieson served the lemonade which was pronounced the best ever made in the county. The delegation of visitors spent an enjoyable time in the village and returned to Brainerd on the midnight train.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

At the Grand

Something new in the vaudeville acts seen at the Grand this week is the work of Claude Golden, a most dexterous card manipulator. His card tricks are so many and varied that many a man in the audience would hate to sit in a poker game with him.

Long and West are singing and dancing comedians. West takes the black face part and is known as "Tuphus," who follows his master Long on a wild chase around the country until his ankles catch fire. The singing of West, or his canary birding act, as he terms it, is good. Long has a clear and pleasing voice. The team made a decided hit.

GOOD SCORES MADE IN THE RAIN

George E. Trent, Remington and U. M. C. Representative Gets the High Professional Average

BEST AVERAGE OUT OF 200

A. C. White Gets the High Amateur Average of 179 out of 200

The 1910 tournament of the River side gun club was held yesterday and attracted a large number of shooters. Rain ran down the gun barrels in streams and wet the glasses, that is the eye glasses, of these hardy devotees of the traps, but it did not dampen their ardor, enthusiasm or powder. Nearly every man shot the entire program, this being necessary in order to entitle a shooter to average money.

The high professional averages, best out of 200, were:

George E. Trent, of Brainerd, of the Remington and U. M. C. companies, first high with a score of 181 out of 200.

H. C. Rinkel, of Minneapolis, of the Winchester Arms Co., second with a score of 168.

E. R. Galvin, of Duluth, of the Dupont Powder Co., third, 155.

The high men of the amateurs were A. C. White, of Brainerd, first with a score of 179.

Alderman T. J. Story, of Duluth, and J. E. Maland, of Jewel Junction, Iowa, tied for second place with a score each of 177 and so divided the money.

The full score is as follows:

Mullany, Hastings. 77 out of 110
Wasser, Hastings. 87 out of 110

This tournament, as one of the local shooters expressed it, was one of the best the club ever had. The traps worked good and there wasn't a hitch anywhere. The only drawback, was the rain. George Ridley acted as referee. Clyde Trent was the scorer. Henry White was in the office and Dean White was his assistant. The office force gave good satisfaction and their work pleased every shooter in the tournament.

The out of town shooters expressed themselves as well pleased with the tournament. One of the professional men stated he was handicapped a little as he was not accustomed to shooting doubles.

The record shows that six amateurs beat the professionals Rinkel and Galvin; also that A. C. White came within two points of Geo. E. Trent's figures. Trent, Jr., shot better than Rinkel and Galvin and came within 10 points of his father's mark.

Many of the shooters of the city and the out of town contingent left for Aitkin this morning where the state diamond badge championship will be hotly contested for.

TYLER GOES TO THIRD DISTRICT
Roadmaster T. J. Tyler Transferred Temporarily From Second to Third District, N. P. Ry.

Roadmaster T. J. Tyler, who has made such a good record in the maintenance and constant improvement of the second district of the Northern Pacific railway extending from Staples to Duluth has been temporarily transferred for three months to the third district of the N. P. extending from Duluth to St. Paul.

Roadmaster Tyler's work has been especially good in this district and was shown in the quick way in which he replaced the road with heavy steel, built up the road bed and made a solid road over the numerous swamps in different sections. Eighty car freights now run this division at high speed. During Mr. Tyler's work here very few wrecks have been reported and when they did occur his men worked night and day to keep traffic moving and uninterrupted. The third district, where Mr. Tyler will put in three months time improving this branch, is a heavy traffic line extending from St. Paul to Duluth. During his absence there, Joseph Smith, of Deerwood, will have charge of the second district.

CORN IS SAVED

A Large Crop of Corn is Assured in Crow Wing County—Wild Hay Fair Crop

Charles Warren on Sunday visited six miles southwest of the city and reports that the corn crop looked splendid; the small garden truck was saved by the last rain; wild hay is picking up. The fruit and berry crop, as everyone knows, is a failure.

William Davis, of Crow Wing, is quoted as saying that wild hay will be a good crop. Tame hay on the other hand, is a failure. Mr. Davis is putting in a fodder corn crop and expects to harvest it. John Gilmore states that a crop of millet could be raised to advantage and ripened before the frost came.

VICE PRESIDENT OF MOLDERS

John Campbell, Vice President of the International Iron Molders Union Visits City

John Campbell, of Cincinnati, O., second vice president of the International Iron Molders union of America, was at St. Paul recently and paid a short visit to the local union in Brainerd.

This is his first visit to Brainerd. He spoke highly of the pleasant manner in which the union entertained him. Yesterday he was taken through the shops and also visited the old foundry and inspected the new one being built.

"The situation among the molders at present," said Mr. Campbell, as he was about to leave for St. Paul this morning, "is good. We have but few strikes on hand. The outlook is good for increased business, and activity in labor circles. The legislation enacted at Washington has caused many railway orders to be cancelled, but we hope this depression will not last long as the railways must have their work done."

BRAINERD BEAT CROSBY

The Brainerd Brewsters Win From Crosby by a Score of 6 to 2

The Brainerd Brewsters played Crosby Sunday afternoon and defeated them by a score of 6 to 2. Fifteen rooters accompanied the Brainerd boys to Crosby.

The game was characterized by clean playing throughout and up to the eighth inning the score stood 2 to 2. Then Brainerd brought in three runs in the eighth inning and 1 run in the ninth and Crosby was defeated. The umpire of the game was John Cummings of Brainerd.

The batteries for the Brainerd Brewsters were White and Parker; for Crosby were Kilm and Edwards. Crosby will play here next Sunday.

Items from the Pequot Enterprise

Miss Marie Knebel left for Brainerd and Bay Lake Tuesday where she will visit friends for a time.

Messrs. John Haug, Ben Knebel and Will Lewis made business trips to Brainerd Saturday.

Messrs. Willey, Gable, E. Larson, Charles Schuhl and Dr. Faulkner were Brainerd visitors Saturday.

Messrs. Kramp, Louis Benedix, Charles Gibson and Ace P. Abell, were transacting business at the county seat Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Tanzer, of Amenla, N. D., and Mr. and Mrs. Christopher of Brainerd, spent the Fourth at Pequot, being the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Tanzer.

Mrs. Frank Ford went to Brainerd Friday accompanying home Mr. Ford, who has been at Akeley for about two weeks overseeing some repair work being done by Mrs. Cole on her property there.

OUR OWN ACTS.

What man is there who does not laboriously, though all unconsciously, himself fashion the sorrow that is to be the pivot of his life?—Masterlinck.

Not Very Many.

"How many servants have you?" asked the census taker.

"Well," replied Mrs. Crosslotts, "two have threatened to leave, one has promised to come, and it's everybody's afternoon off anyhow. You can figure it out for yourself."—Washington Star.

Well Named.

"A wonderful man is my uncle," said little Binks, "so very original and witty. He says he called his dog Sausage because it was half bread, his goat Nearly because it was all butt, and his prize cockerel Robinson because it Crusoe."

An Expert Thrower.

THE BEST STRENGTH.

There is perhaps no strength so great and abiding as that won from a resisted temptation. Every dangerous allurements is like an enchanted monster, which, being conquered, loses all his venom and changes at once into a king of great treasure, eager to make requital.—Hobbes.

Sinful.

Two London tourists one Sunday in the region of Tweedside inquired of a countryman on his way to church the whereabouts of a ruined tower they wished to inspect.

"If ye had spelted the way tae the kirk," he replied, "I wad hae telt ye, but I canna brak the Sawbath day by lettin' ye ken whaur an auld ruckle o' a hoose is."—Dundee Advertiser.

THREE HARD WORDS.

There are three short and simple words, the hardest to pronounce in any language (and I suspect they were no easier before the confusion of tongues), but which no man or nation that cannot utter can claim to have arrived at manhood. These words are, "I was wrong."—Lowell.

Probably True.

A raw Irishman shipped as one of the crew on a revenue cruiser. His turn at the wheel came around, and after a somewhat eccentric session in the pilothouse he found himself the butt of no little humor below.

"Begorrah," he growled at last, "and ye needn't talk. I bet I done more steerin' in tin minutes 'n ye done in yer howl watch!"—Success Magazine.

Still Grieving.

"So she has lost her husband? Has she recovered from her grief yet?" "Not yet. You know how slow those insurance companies are in settling."

Calamity is the opportunity of virtue and a spur to a great mind.

Brazil's Rosewood Trade Flags.

In spite of the strong demand, exports of rosewood to the United States and Europe have fallen off owing to the difficulty of getting the logs out of the Brazilian forests.

Siam Exports Much Rice.

Siam has forty-seven rice mills, exporting 1,000,000 tons of milled rice a year. Only $2,538 worth of American rice milling machinery was sold there last year, though American engineers built the first of the mills. Rice production is the chief resource of Siam.

To Grow 2,000 Roses on One Bush.

Hugo Lilienthal, the landscape gardener of Berkeley, Cal., has startled horticulturists by announcing that he is planning to graft 2,000 varieties of roses on one bush and that he expects the bush to show the bloom of almost every variety of rose known in the United States. Lilienthal says that he has 100 varieties of roses already blooming on the bush.

Cool Kitchen—Perfect Cooking

The housewife with years of experience—the woman who knows how to cook—finds, after practical tests and hard trials, the New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is her idea of what a good cook-stove really ought to be.

She finds it requires less attention, costs less to operate, and cooks all food better than any other stove she has ever tried.

She finds the New Perfection oven bakes and roasts perfectly. The

has a Cabinet Top with a shelf for keeping plates and food hot. There are drop shelves for coffee pot or saucepans, and nicked towel racks. It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

CAMPAIGN FOR HUSBAND.

St. Louis Woman Uses Auto and English Methods.

Joseph Wheelock is being strongly aided in his independent candidacy in St. Louis for the Republican nomination for circuit judge by his wife, who is canvassing the district in her automobile and on foot, electioneering like the English noblewoman.

"Whenever I see a crowd I get out of my motorcar, distribute cards bearing my husband's picture and tell the men how much I would appreciate their votes for my husband," says she. "I tell them I believe Mr. Wheelock would make a good judge because he reads and studies law all the time and because he is honest. I tell them about his new book, a translation of Mexico's laws, and lay stress on the fact that I shall be terribly disappointed if he is not elected. I go to the washerwoman as well as my old Lindell boulevard neighbors. I find if I win over women they will win over their husbands. I have not yet met a refusal in two weeks' electioneering. I do not want the ballot or office, but believe all women who do want the franchise should have it."

HOOSIERS RAISE FISHWORMS.

Lack of Bait Starts New and Profitable Industry.

Raising fishworms is a new industry in Greenfield, Ind., and so far as known is not even carried on in a small way in any other locality in the Hoosier State. The scarcity of bait at the northern lakes, where several fortunate Greenfield lads spend the summers with their parents, led to the industry.

Ordinary angleworms are obtained regardless of size or condition and placed in boxes prepared with soft loam soil. They are then developed by careful feeding. The food is milk and sweetened water. On this the worms thrive and become large and tempting for the fish. The fishermen ship this carefully prepared bait to the lakes, and as a usual thing they are favored with the big catches.

SHOWS IN LONDON

Crowds That Gather to Secure Seats in the Pit.

A LONG WAIT FOR TICKETS.

The Line, Orderly and Well Dressed, Begins to Form as Early as 5 o'clock in the Afternoon and in Case of a Popular Play Even Earlier.

In the better London theaters it costs 2s. 6d. to go into the pit, which, relatively speaking, is a good sum to pay, for a half dollar in New York isn't much better than a shilling in London when it comes to purchasing value.

The pit crowd begins to assemble as early as 5 o'clock in the afternoon and in cases of a great success even earlier than that. My first experience as a pitte occurred in London one summer night two years ago, when, after vain efforts to buy, borrow, beg or steal stalls for a popular play, writes Adolph Klausner in the Green Book, I finally decided to see it from the pit. When I arrived at the theater, about 5 o'clock one Saturday afternoon, I found there was already a long line of men and boys and women, the foremost with face glued to the pit door and the line extending far beyond the narrow passageway to the street in front of the theater. Now, with every desire in the world to send my New York constituency some news of this great reigning success and not without some curiosity of my own I was still far from willing to cool my heels for the best part of three hours until the doors should open.

I turned and found a newsboy at my elbow.

"I'll 'old your place for you, sir," he repeated. "What time'll you be back?"

It was then that I discovered for the first time this London institution, the place holder at the door of the pit, one of the many means by which one of the struggling unemployed or of the poorly paid seeks to add a few shillings to his meager, frugal income. There was no risk involved. The boy was quick to note the foreigner.

"It'll be all right, sir," he said in his cheerful cockney way. "Is the lady coming too? Me and me friend'll stand in line, and all you'll have to do will be to change places with us when you come around tonight. Only a shillin' apiece. It's worth it, sir, not to have to wait."

At 7 o'clock we were back in the narrow court, but long before I had been able to disentangle my boy from the dozen or so others, all looking very much alike, his cheerful tones greeted me with "Ere you are, sir, 'ere you are, and you and the lady'll get in the first row if you look sharp when you pass the door."

"Geese!" I muttered as we dropped into the interstices left by the departing boys. "A good half hour to wait—or more."

But, after all, I found the waiting far from tedious.

Hawkers of fruit and chocolate passed along the line, finding ready buyers among the waiting patrons of the pit, and every few minutes some new vaudeville fad of work would come along to entertain the crowd with tumbling, dancing, singing or imitations. First a juggler appeared, and when a bobby sent him spinning faster than his plates and balls a contortionist took his place, spread a ragged carpet mat and began to turn himself inside out while the newsboys and shop girls going home from work shouted encouragement and appreciation. Finally the bobby ordered him to "move on," but not until a generous shower of pennies had fallen on the mat. The next man to appear carried a valise from which he produced wires, crimped hair and several false noses. His entertainment consisted of imitations of composers, "famous," he called them, but "infamous," they really were. He was not encouraged, either, for the pit line knew good from bad and wasn't to be parted from its pennies without proper value in return.

The crowd was genial, orderly, well dressed, and when the doors were opened finally I expected a headlong rush. But there was not the slightest suggestion of a scramble—a little congestion naturally at the narrow entrance, where a smiling, good natured bobby remarked quite pleasantly: "Now, then, go easy—just the same as you went into church last Sunday—if you did go."

Then a short passage up a flight of narrow stairs, past a little cubbyhole where the tickets are handed out after you have duly deposited your two and six, into the theater and ready for the play.

She Does It. "How do Mrs. and Mr. Jones manage?" "Why—er—Mr. Jones doesn't"—Cleveland Leader.

What Good Is Father? Father has always been the "goat." It was always father who held the family from the achievement of its social ambitions. It was father who made blunders that put the family to shame. Father never would take to the new fashioned ideas. He was against the domination by the younger generation, against suffrage, against women's clubs, against the teaching of French to the children—in a word, a natural reactionary. It was not natural, therefore, that father should become generally known as a back number, useful only in bringing home money and writing checks. —Washington Post

East Indian Monkeys. A naturalist who has traveled in the East Indies says: "The effect on the monkeys of man's appearance is most interesting. The expression of their emotions is certainly almost human as they sit and stare at him, coughing and snarling with anger and contempt, drawing back their heads and throwing the hand before the face with a gesture of abhorrence and other movements indicative of shocked and outraged feelings. But predominant is the expression of absolute horror, which, coming from those we consider our still degraded cousins, is to our superiority very aggravating."

CANADA GLORIES IN RULE OF GREY

Most Popular Governor General in Dominion History.

MAKES AND KEEPS FRIENDS.

Wins Admiration of People From Labrador to Dawson City by Predicting Wonderful Future For United States' Northern Neighbor—Great Strides Made in Six Years.

An American friend of Earl Grey once told him that the chief function of a governor general is to "flap his wings and crow." The governor general of Canada might be excused if now and then he indulged in this exercise, for during the six years of his office the Dominion has advanced by leaps and bounds.

Earl Grey went to Canada with reluctance. He will leave it with regret when the time comes. Although Earl Grey has held the post longer than any of his predecessors except Lord Dufferin and Lord Minto, it is almost certain that he will remain another year.

Of Earl Grey's popularity in the Dominion there can be no doubt. Canadians delighted in the wit and vivacity of Lord Dufferin, they valued the steadfastness of Lord Lorne, they admired the grand seigneur in Lord Lansdowne and the sportsman in Lord Minto. Earl Grey derives his popularity from a combination of qualities and circumstances.

Makes and Keeps Friends.

In the first place he is one of those happy mortals who make friends without an effort and keep them by the attraction of temperament. It is not given to every one to be on familiar footing with the citizen and the countryman. Lord Dufferin could be a plain man, Lord Grey could be the plain man. He acquired the habit in Rhodesia, where he was administrator in 1896-7, at the time of the Matabele war. How many still remember his afternoon visits to the Bulawayo club in flannel trousers, slouch hat and dinner sleeves?

And he carried the habit to Canada, where he has visited every province—even to faraway Dawson City—and has been welcomed as a made-by pioneer and farmer, hunter and miner. He can work with them all and—more difficult still—can talk with them all.

No Canadian born has more assured faith in the future of his country than Earl Grey. He believes as firmly as any of them that Canada is destined to become the most populous, the most wealthy and the most important part of the British empire. "Provided Canada keeps her judiciary pure, her politics clean and her administration honest, nothing can prevent her one day becoming the controlling factor in the empire of self governing nations."

Captures Newfoundlanders.

In Newfoundland, the oldest and in many respects the most conservative of the British colonies, his influence has been not less beneficent. Newfoundlanders have a habit of regarding Canadians as foreigners and as "disloyal" to the British connection. Earl Grey has done much to remove this prejudice and to bring nearer the day when Newfoundland may become not the least of ten provinces in the great Dominion.

Earl Grey not only believes but proclaims his belief from the houseposts, for he knows the value of advertising even a nation. He has, solid foundation for his faith. He has seen the population of Canada grow from six to nearly ten millions; he has watched two railways creeping across the continent to make a third link between the Atlantic and Pacific; he has observed the tide of migration changing from the south to the north, and the United States returning Canada's gift of 3,000,000 sons and daughters to the republic, and he has seen barren plains golden under grain.

FISHERMEN CATCH DEER.

Find Bigger Game Than Trout in Mountain Stream.

Two Isaac Waltons while fishing in the White Salmon river, Washington, for rainbow trout unexpectedly captured game of a different variety. Some three miles up the river from where the fishermen were casting their lines in a box canyon, where the stream is very swift, logs were shooting by at a rapid rate, and the sports also saw a deer come floating down in apparently an exhausted condition.

One of the fishermen risked his life by wading out and pulling the animal ashore. One leg was found broken, and the deer was put out of its misery.

Steel Trust Moves River.

An unusual feat in engineering has been begun in Gary, Ind., when work was started to move the Grand Calumet river a quarter of a mile south in order to make room for the new coke ovens which the United States Steel corporation is building alongside the blast furnaces.

Army Worm Damages Crops.

White, S. D., July 12.—During the past few weeks farmers have been greatly puzzled as to the identity of a worm which was damaging fields of timothy, stripping the heads and in some cases making quick work in cleaning up a field. An expert from the state agricultural college at Brookings, who was summoned, has identified the pest as the army worm, which puts in an appearance about once in fifteen years.

LIFTING THE SCALP

An Art Not Confined to the North American Indian.

ALLIED TO HEAD HUNTING.

Some Indians Removed the Skin of the Entire Head, Including the Hair and Beard of Their Victim—Ears and Hands Also Served For Trophies.

The art of scalping has declined owing to the severe pains and penalties dealt out to its practitioners in the various states of North America. It was in a certain sense a product of European settlement, for it would never have become so widespread had it not been for the white man.

Scalping is commonly considered a custom belonging exclusively to the North American Indian. This is a mistake. It is found in South America, and Herodotus mentions it as having been practiced among the Scythians. But as the old Greek traveler's book was not published until 1502 it is probable that scalping appeared to the early explorers of America as a new thing. It was first described by Francisco de Garey, who in 1520 came across it in his ill fated expedition to Panuco. He found that the Indians removed the skin of the entire head, including the hair and beard. In 1535 Jacques Cartier wrote an account of a scalping party which is more typical of the custom as usually found. From this time on it is described by many writers, notably Captain John Smith and Champlain.

The Indians themselves were uncertain as to the use of keeping an enemy's scalp, except that they felt it would hurt him in some way. Some said it put him in the power of the owner of the scalp, others that it banished him from the happy hunting grounds, while still others believed that it annihilated him.

In the opinion of George Frederic, whose monograph may be consulted in the Smithsonian Institution report of 1906, scalping is a modification of head hunting, a practice indulged in by many savages. There is a primitive notion that the possession of a token or portion of a man gives one a power over that man. To keep the head of an enemy puts him in your power, the savage thinks. But it is often inconvenient to carry so large a thing as a head. A smaller token is therefore substituted. This statement would seem to be borne out by the following facts:

Many American Indians did not follow the practice of scalping, notably those of the north, adjoining the Eskimo, the Fraser river Indians and the Algonquians of New Jersey. Nearly all of these practiced head hunting. A transition period is represented by the Caddoes of Texas, where the men took the scalps and the women the more convenient period collected the heads. Some tribes in California secured, instead of scalps, the eyes of their enemies, which were preserved in some way, while others in Mexico selected the ears for their trophy, probably following the lead of the Spaniards, who lopped off ears as punishment for crime.

The Hudson river Indians used to preserve hands, probably in imitation of the Dutch, who in the so called Esopus war gave a bounty for Indian hands. Around the sources of the Missouri the Lewis and Clark expedition found the custom of preserving scalps replaced by that of preserving fingers. In northern Mexico the custom of scalping prevailed, but toward the south it was replaced by head hunting. In South America there are two localities where it still flourishes. One of these is northern Argentina and Paraguay, where it gives signs of being indigenous, as it differs in many ways from the practice of North America. It is also found around Guiana, probably introduced by the Indian slaves brought from Florida.

The Huron-Iroquois have been accredited with the invention of scalping, but unless it arose independently in several places it much more likely originated in Florida, where it was first discovered by Europeans. Contact with a higher grade of culture gave a tremendous impetus to the custom.

Previous to the Spanish discovery the weapons of the Indians had been very simple, being manufactured from stone, bones, shells or even reeds. The tribal wars, though numerous, were seldom bloody, and with such primitive means the braves found it both awkward and dangerous to remove the scalp of a fallen enemy.

But the Europeans brought with them firearms and knives. The former increased a hundredfold the number of those killed in battle, while the latter made the process of scalping an easy one. Besides this, the whites encouraged the custom by offering bounties for scalps.

The first premium of this nature was offered in 1637 by the Puritans, who gave a payment for every Indian head, the custom of scalping not having yet reached New England. But by the time of King Philip's war it was in full blast, and in 1675 the Connecticut legislature offered large prizes for scalps. One Hannah Dustin received 150 and other substantial gifts for having secured with her own hands the scalps of two Indian men, two women and six children.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

SMILE AND WAIT.

One of the hardest and yet one of the most useful lessons we can ever learn is to smile and wait after we have done our best. He is not a philosopher who has not learned the secret of smiling and waiting. A great many people can smile at difficulties who cannot wait, who lack patience, but the man who can both smile and wait, if he has the tenacity of purpose which never turns back, will surely win.

Be Fair to Your Property

GIVE it every possible chance to last long and to look its best. If you build well—paint well.

If it is important to carefully select the building materials for your house—it is just as important to use all care in getting the paint that will protect those materials.

Red Seal

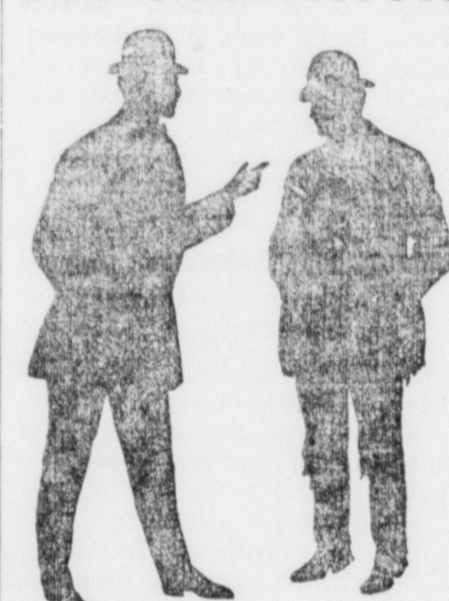

Pure White Lead ("Dutch Boy Painter" trade-mark) is the standard house paint. Pure white lead earned that term, "standard," because it proved itself the greatest known protector of wood against weather, and because as an ornamental paint it proved to give the smoothest finish. That is why good painters like to use it. The painter mixes it with pure linseed oil at the time of painting and makes any color, shade or tint you want.

The house that is "white-leaded" is the house that's painted right.
